Implement evidence-based strategies and innovations to increase the effectiveness of how Dartmouth addresses high risk drinking, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A program called BASICS, for Brief Alcohol Screening and Intervention for College Students, which is based on principles of motivational interviewing delivered in an empathetic, non-confrontational, and nonjudgmental manne; BASICS is aimed at revealing discrepancy between a student’s risky drinking behavior and his or her goals and values. • Brief motivational interviewing, or BMI, during interactions with students in situations such as health care visits and residence hall meetings, to help students understand how alcohol can affect their lives • More consistent enforcement for violations, such as serving alcoholic punch and so-called pre-gaming, which often takes the form of dorm-room drinking before going to an event • Training of hosts and managers of social events that are often the scene of high-risk drinking, such as Homecoming • Social norms campaigns, which help new students realize that most of their peers are not engaged in high-risk drinking • Bystander intervention programs that encourage peers to help their friends* 	Student Affairs	Summer 2011	Complete
